The Former New York Senator Sees the President.

CALLED HERE FOR CONFERENCE

The Republican Situation in th Empire State a Source of Auxiety. No Visitors to Be Received at the White House on Memorial Day. President Will Go to Arlington.

A tall man with a stately bearing, long gray bair hanging down his back, a stane on his shoes, a flower in his cost, and a smile on his face, ascended the stairs of the White House this morning, ellowed his way through the crowd of officesectors, presented himself at Secretary Porter's door, and was immediately admitted, contrary to the rules, except for the most distinguished visitors: The crowd wondered who he was, and very few people recognised him as ex-Senator Hiscock, of New York. Mr Hiscock stands as close to the President as any politician in the country. Indeed, it was at the solicitation of the President that Mr. Hiscock came to Wash-

There is quite a fight being waged up in Syracuse, Hiscock's home, over Federal pa-tronage, and the Belden and Hendricks forces are at sword's points. Mr Hendricks s an organization man, and as such beeves he should have something to say thout Federal patrousge, while Representa tive Belden is an anti-organizationist, and as such is not in touch with the Platt nurchine. As long as the two factions are at variance, it is not likely that either aide will receive consideration from the Executive. So, in order to bring about an amicable adjustment of the differences of netwo factions, the Presidentis understoo to have requested his friend, Mr. Hiscock o come to Washington and talk over the situation with him, with a view to reconding the two wings of the party.

The conference between the President and Mr. Hiscock was quite a lengthy one, and the whole New York situation was cone over. The President expressed the hope that there would be no serious split the Reputhian party in the En State, and Mr. Hiscock promised to use his influence to keep matters in harmony. It is recognized that a united front most unde in Greater New York this fall in the mayorality skirmish, and when Mr. Historic brought this matter to the Presi-dent's attention the latter spoke in an interescel tone of the coming contest, and memel mach interested to know what is being done to harmonize the factions of the party in Greater New York

Mr. Hiscock left the White House shortly after 12 o'clock and returned again in the afternson, when he had another long talk with the President on New York matters The tariff was brought up in the conver sation in the afternoon. Mr. Hiscock scoke of the benefits which are certain to accrue from the Dingley bill. For the most part. Mr. Hiscock said, the Dingley tariff is satisfactory to New Yorkers, and they are only waiting for its specity en-ctacet into law. The President's Nashville excursion will clude trips over two roads—the Southern Railway, one way, and the Chesapeake and Ohio the other. The Cabinet and the adies of the Cabinet will be of the Presi lent's party. The Cabinet will also as company the President on the trip to Pistadelphia next week. Mr. McKinley has not yet decided whether or not ! stop at Asheville on his way to Nashville dibough Major McKiesick and the other of the North Carolina delegation have made heir invitation a very pressing one. Secretary Alger is to be present at the graduating exercises at West Point and ceretary Long at Annapolis. President CHIEF CAUSE. Unhealthy urine from unhealthy kidney is the chief cause of bladder troubles and suffering so painful to many that life is nade miserable. The womb, like the bladder, was created for one purpose, and if jeft alone it is not liable to become discased. except in rare cases. When in position the womb is situated back of and very close to the bladder, and for that reason any distress, disease, or inconvenience manifested in the kidneys, back, bladder, or urinary passage, is often by mistake attributed to female weakness or womb trouble of some sort. The error is easily paying a little attention to the urine (see pamphlet). The mild and extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver, and bladder remedy, soon realized. struction of rival companies, the profits of the company, $25,000,000 in three years, his contributions to Republicans and Democrats alike in local matters.

Stenographer W. C. Miller, who had misplaced some of his notes, was put on the stand. He had found his notes, and was asked to read certain parts of them in the original, and specifically as to the ques-tion by Mr. Allen if Mr. Havemeyer would submit an account of money contributed by him for campaign purposes. Mr. Johnson here offered to read other parts of Havemeyer's testimony not quoted in the indictment, and specifically the letter of Holiand in the Philadelphia newspaper He said that the whole conversation should have been given.

Mr. Davis said that the newspaper ar ticle was not relevant.

Judge Bradley sustained the point that all of the conversation of Mr. Havemeyer wa Mr. Davis remarked that the only effect of the reading would be to consume time Mr Johnson created a good deal of amuse ment by the serious manner in which he read the speculations of the newspaper m relating to the meeting between Mr. Have meyer and Mr. Benedict and Mr. Cleveland on a yacht to talk over the sugar trust interests, all of which Mr. Havemeyer denie point blank as to a yacht or any place in fact, he had never seen Mr. Cleveland in his life, but he might know him from his pictures of Ohio, who was sitting directly behind Mr. Johnson. Mr. Havemeyer was also incidentally amused at the stenographic ograph of what he said. Mr. Havemeyer laughed outright at the reading of the account of the alleges meeting between him and Senator Caf fery, Mr. Terrell and others at the Capitol on one Sunday morning, when they were "fixing up a sugar schedule;" al of which Mr. Havemeyer denied. Mr. Johnson also read parts of the testimony in which Mr. Havemeyer denied contributions to the national campaign funds This was regarded as an important part of the case, because it will doubtless be sought to be shown that Mr. Havemever did answer the things for which he had been accused of recussancy. Mr. Johnson also read those parts of the testimony, in which Mr. Havemeye denied that he knew of any Senator wh speculated in stocks, or of any one who made a combination to affect legislation, that there was no suggestion of oldigation to the trust made to any member of the Finance Committee.

A recess was here taken until 1 p. m After the revess Mr. Johnson concluded the reading of Mr. Havemeyer's testimony. Mr. Davis then read extracts from the printed testimony of Mr. Havemeyer, which went to show what effect proposed legislation would have on the prices of sugar.

Mr. Johnson replied with such parts of the testimony as showed the formation of the trust, and he laid stress on the statement of Mr. Havemeyer that after the formation of the trust the price of sugar to the consumer had decreased. Mr. Havemover in this part of his testimony stated that no Senator occupied the place of an attorney for the American Sugar Refining Company.

The defense waived objection to the ntroduction of the journals of the assembiles of New York and New Jersey, it be ing admitted that there were elections, State, county and municipal, in those States at the times alleged.

Mr Davis offered in evidence without bjection, the files of the New York Sun and Philadelphia Press for the month of May, 1894. This, he said, closed his case. Mr. Johnson moved for an acquittal or the fellowing grounds:

First. That there was no right in the Sen-ate of the United States to make any inmiry concerning the contributions by the American Sugar Refining Company. Second. That there was no duty on behalf of the witness (Havemeyer) to examine the books of the refining company in order that he might thereby answer questions which he could not answer from his memory Third. That the question in reply which the defendant is averred to have been recusant is a question which demanded him to produce data from books, and that the proper method of obtaining information contained in books was by the production of the books and not by a demand that the witness should take figures therefrom.

Fourth. That the question as it was put to the witness was too broad; that it involved matters concerning which there can be no possible right to demand as answer, and that it was the duty of the witness to answer the question as a whole as it was put, and that it was not his duty to take out of the question the parts which he might answer (even if did not answer all he was obliged to) and to specify those to which he should not

Fifth. That before the defendant can be convicted it must be shown, in a way that this report does not show, that the committee, of which he alone can be recesant, advised him that the question which was put to him wasa question, notofa member of the committee, but of the committee

Sixth That the indictment does not disclose the cause of action by reason of its failure to make certain averments that were necessary. Mr Johnson proceeded to argue the points made. One of the strong points made was that contributions to State election as in New York and New Jersey, were not an offense against the Senate of the United States. He said that Mr. Havemeyer had admitted contributions to municipa paign purposes, but that when the committee asked him how much, Mr. Have meyer ought to have told the interrogator it was none of his business. It was an important question. What was there in the question that could have been insisted on by the Senate in "its arrogation of dominion over private rights?" It would be a miserable thing if modern star chambers could exercise the right over private affairs claimed by the Senate Committee of Inquiry. Mr. Johnson quoted Judge Miller in the Kilbourne case, show that it was the function of the courts to determine the question of per-

SCOOFFY WAIVES A HEARING

Lawyer Totten's Assailant Takes Chances With the Grand Jury.

The Accused as Smiling and Debonair as Ever-Mrs. Scooly Said to Be Suffering From Cancer.

The wide publicity given the case of the attempted shooting of Lawyer Howe Totten by Leonidas Scoolfy, and the social standing of the parties concerned, attracted a large number of spectators to the police court this morning, where the preliminary hearing was set for 9:30 o'clock

The defendant was on hand early; m fact, a full balf-hour before the court house was opened, and stood around until admitted. He was neatly dressed in a gray check suit, a red shirt and black string tie. He sat through all the smaller trinis until his case was called, when, with a carcless smile on his face, he took i is seat beside former Congressmen Turner, his counsel.

The assembled spectators leaned early forward to hear what evidence might be produced, but they were all doon disappointment, as counsel for the defendant arese and merely said: "If your honor please, in the case of

HIS EYE ON THE SENATORSHIP

Though the Conversation at First Ranged Along Tariff Lines, It Soon Veered Around to the Situation in the Buckeye State Importance to Him of Elections.

Seated about a large round table in a private dining room of the Arlington Hotel ast night twelve Ohio stateshen are und choicest viands, drank care wines, smoked fine cigars, and talked all grades of poli-

The dinner was given to his colleagues of the Ohio delegation by Senator Hanna. It was not supposed that the Senator want ed merely to become better acquainted with the mea in the House or that he asked them to dine just because he wanted their agreeable company. In these days of campaigning, when his own re-election is hanging in the balance, Mr. Hanna is much too busy to be giving dinner parties without ulterior motives. It was necessary that politics be discussed in private, and the best way to secure privacy, it occurred to Mr. Hanna, would be through the medium of a dinner

Hence the affair of last night. The men present, besides the host, were Senator Foraker and Representatives Eromwell, Shattuc, Beach, Burton, Grosvenor, Taylor, Southard, Van Voorhis, Prown and Fenton The absentees were Representa-tive Danford, who was ill, and Representatives Kerr. Grover and Lybrand, who were out of the city. The table was neatly decorated with American Peauty oses and white blacs.

Ostensibly the politics to be discusrelated entirely to the tariff, but in reality it branched out into the domain of Onto State politics. At this meeting a great deal of opposition was manifested against some of the changes in the tariff bill made by the Senate committee. Sen ator Hanna and his associates, being absolutely free from unfriendly political ears. talked over the situation frankly, the unfor Senator evincing liveliest concern as is natural to the man in whose behalf. chiefly. the impending battle is to be fought out in Ohio.

Mr. Hanna asserted his opposition to the increase in the internal revenue tax on beer, and said that if this tax was kept n the bill it would be fatal to the party in Onio While it is true, that Ohio has no very large breweries, such as are found at Milwankee and St. Louis, its aggregate estput of this beverage is enormous. The German population of Ohio is quite large and in politics this element holds the balance of power. Generally speaking, it has affiliated with the Republican party but has always been quick to condemn any interference on the subject of personal liberty, or the establishment of uneasonable schemes of taxation. Mr. Hanna and his associates easily foresee the damor that will arise if this increase is unde in the beer tax, and it was decided last night that the delegation, both in the Senate and House, should use all the means within its power to defeat this item in the bill. A similar conclusion was reachof with respect to the reimposition of the tea tax

The same arguments that led to the opocition of the beer tax were applied gainst the decrease in the wool schedule made by the Senate Committee. Only a great wool-producing State, and tolay the sheep upon its thousand hills, if Mr. Hanna and his associates are to be accepted as reliable witnesses, are bleating their lamentations over the disaster that confronts them. These plaintive totes have pierced the hearts of the Ohio delegation, and they have resolved to inist upon a restoration of the House rates n wools and woolens. Dutiable hides were given a black eye at this dinner. Cattle and sheep were not put upon the same plane. It was desided, after considering the proposition some time, that free hides was more in accord with a Republican policy of protection, that puts a high duty on the wool of the sheep, and the House provision in this respect will receive Obio's vote

When it came to a discussion of State politics there was a general sparring for position. Such men as Foraker, Shattue. Bromwell and Burton are not in thorough accord with the ambitions of Mr. Hanna. True, their knives were not exposed, but they carried them just the same. Mr. Hanna, on the other hand, was uneasy and nervous. He knows the chances of carry ing the State this fall are desperate. Just what sort of a platform the State convention shall adopt is perplexing him. and he hoped to evolve some scheme at this dinner. The delay in getting the tariff bill before the Senate prevents the Ohio convention from doing more than making additional promises in this direction, throwing in a few predictions and holding out hope to the State. The policy of the Administration on Cuba absolutely prohibits a strong plank on that subject, so that up to this time Mr Hanna has sought in vain for a campaign shibboleth. Apparently there was a unanimity of entiment, but the ghost that has confronted Mr. Hanna ever since he aspired to the Senate refused to down, and stalked before him, even at this festal board. The situation is best expressed in the of Congressman Beach, an ardent Hanna can, who returned last night from Cleveland in time to attend this dinner. According to Mr. Beach, Mayor McKisson, recently elected as a known enemy of Hanna, has his war paint on, and willendeavor to prevent the election of Hanna members of the legislature from his home county of Cuyhoga.

"There is trouble in the Republican camp in Ohio," said Mr. Beach, "but of one thing there is absolutely no doubt If any combination is made that succeeds defeating the re-election of Mr. Hanna to the Senate, it will be equivalent to turning the State over to the Democrats at the election this fall."

This threat, coming as it does from one of the strong Hanna followers, indicates better than anything else possibly can the intensity of feeling between the Hanna and anti-Hanna factions in the Republican party in Ohio

RALLY IN THE STOCK MARKET. Favorable Condition in London Is Echoed in Wall Street.

New York, May 26 - The stock market was encouraged somewhat by the more favor-able attitude of the London market. Jersey Central advanced 1 5-8 per cent and Western Union quickly rose a point. The Grangers were strong, but improvements in these stocks did not exceed fractions. Sugar further rose 3-4 per cent on reports from Washington of a good prospect for the passage of the tariff schedule. Chicago Gas was slightly irregular on conflicting opinions as to the outlook for gas legislation in the Illinois house of repersentatives. The feeling in the street is one of moderate confidence in a further ally in the market. Government fives are up 1-8 per cent. At I o'clock the stock market had broadened out materially. Commission houses reported increased buying orders for out-of-town account, but, on the other hand, London was a moderate seller. There is altogether a more confident feeling, and prominent capitalists are taking a livelier interest in speculation than for a long time, and the indications point strengly to a still higher market in
